Export incentive Schemes

1518. SHRI AKHILESH DAS: Will the Minister of COMMERCE be pleased to state:

(a) the details of the existing export incentive schemes;

(b) whether Government propose to review the incentive for exporters;

(c) if so, the reasons therefor;

(d) whether it is a fact that there has been misuse of the incentive schemes;

(e) if so, the details in this regard; and

(f) the measures Government propose to take to streamline the schemes for ensuring transparency and result orientation?

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF COMMERCE (DR. BOLLA BULI RAMAIAH): (a) to (c) The main Export Promotion Schemes in the Export and Import Policy, 1992—97, include Advance Licensing Scheme, Export Oriented Units/Export Processing Zones Scheme, Software Technology Parks, Electronic Hardware Technology Parks Scheme and Diamond, Gem & Jewellery Export Promotion Scheme which encourage export production by facilitating easy access to raw materials/components, capital goods required for production at competitive prices. Annual reviews of the Policy have been undertaken to further simplify and rationalise the various Export Promotion Schemes to make them more useful and provide the stimulous for higher export growth.

(d) and (e) Some complaints have been received relating to misuse of export incentives such as Cash Compensatory Support, Replenishment licences, Exim scrips, International Price re-embursement scheme and payment of duty drawback etc. It has been alleged in these complaints that such incentives were availed off or admitted to be availed off on the basis of misdeclaration, forged documents and suppression of material facts. All such complaints are investigated and penal action such as debarment, imposition of fiscal penalty and suspension of Importer-Exporter code No. are taken under the relevant statutory provision. Some cases are also referred to the CBI for prosectuion.

(f) Government is continuously interacting with the Trade and Industry, Export Promotion Councils, Apex Organisations like FIEO, FICCI, CII, ASSOCHAM etc. to make the various export promotion schemes more transparent, practical and useful for boosting exports.
